men have lower life expectancy than women they account for 90 of the incarcerated population they die more often in traffic accidents from alcohol and drug consumption and they commit more suicides than women since that information has been accessible for a long time why is it not taken into account when campaigns are created and actions are defined violence is not an entity it is male confronted with that reality the author sought to formulate the question orientating towards the following working hypothesis this common knowledge should be forgotten given that the involvement of men in situations of violence plays an important role in the preservation of political ideation in contemporary societies during this study it became clear that men are exposed to a more complex type of death than mere physical death but just as important which is relative to their social representation this insight led to understanding other aspects that could be associated with men s intense involvement in situations of violence could it be that in contemporary culture a purpose is served by keeping men involved with situations of violence if so what might that be

although brazilian scholars have collected and studied folklore since the second half of the nineteenth century their work has gone largely unnoticed by folklorists working in other parts of the world with the exception of anthropologists who occasionally study the folk literature of indigenous peoples in brazil few foreigners are familiar with or even aware of the kinds of folklore studies that have been undertaken in that country this work first published in 1994 aims to characterize the nature of brazilian narrative studies and trends to discuss and assess the roots of the apparent preoccupations approaches and objectives of traditional narrative scholarship in brazil to examine brazilian folklore scholarship in light of euro american research and to point out the results and accomplishments of brazilian research while simultaneously indicating possibilities for new directions in research
